K. C. Gazette. Two distinguished gentlemen, famous in the annals of Kansas, favored the Gazette office Friday. Judge W. C. Webb, of Topeka, who has served the State in a variety of ways, member of the legislature, supreme court reporter, and insurance commissioner, and who is always right, except when it comes to Wyandotte and monkeying around a People's party convention, and John Francis, of Iola, the first State treasurer of Kansas to keep the funds in the vault instead of loaning it on cattle in the Indian Territory, reviewed our interest in the old crowd. The latter gentleman after a couple of years in New York, has returned to his farm in Allen county, and is bronzed and healthy.

Rev. J. H. Lockwood, D. D., district superintendent for the district of Kansas of the American Bible Society preached an able sermon in the M. E. church last Sunday morning to a crowded house. In the evening he held a mass meeting of all the churches in the Baptist church of all the denominations in town. The church was full to overflowing and great interest was manifested. At the conclusion of his address he reorganized the Allen county auxiliary of the Kansas district of the American Bible Society with officers from the different churches.

At the last meeting of the Ministerial Union it was decided to ask the business men to close their houses at 7:30 p. m., every day except Saturday, in order to give clerks and employees a little time for recreation and to afford all who desire to do so an opportunity to attend the evening religious services. Most of the merchants we believe, think 7:30 is too early, but a proposition to close at 8 o'clock would probably meet with general acceptance. If all would enter into the agreement then no one could make any complaint, and the town would do just as much business.

There has been considerable "shifting around" this week. A. O. Allen moved his book store out of the post-office into the room just west of G. Goff's. Mr. Allen is removing his stock of clocks and jewelry from the Young building, and Mrs. Goshorn occupies the space thus vacated with her millinery stock. Billie McClure expects to occupy the west side of the post-office building with a stock of stationery, confectionery, cigars, etc.

In order to have a better chance to display my goods, as well as to get room for a larger stock, I have moved from the Post-Office into the first room west where I am now ready to receive my customers. I shall continue to handle the daily papers and to act as agent for all other periodicals, and expect to increase my stock of books, stationery and the sundries I have been carrying so as to meet every demand. Come and see me in my new quarters. A. O. Allen.

The Oklahoma Journal observes that the desire to outshine their neighbors is as fully developed among the Indians as among their white neighbors. Following the big payment of a claim for the Cheyenne and Arapaho Indians bought carriages. In order to outdo his neighbors an old Indian purchased a horse at Kingfisher, into which he loaded his family, driving back to his tepee in great state, envied by all his neighbors.

Benevolent Party: "My man, don't you think fishing is cruel sport?"

Fisherman: "Crude! Well, I should say so. I have sat here six hours and have not had a bite, been nearly eaten up by mosquitoes, and the sun has parched the back of my neck."

Benevolent Party: "You should have a bottle of Krause's German Oil, as it will not only drive the mosquitoes away, but would beseeching and healing to your blistered neck." Evans Bros.

Herbals. W. A. Ross, of Osage township has taken the Moran Elevator and will be prepared to buy grain, flax seed, millet, etc., as soon as the season begins. Union. George W. Moon is very much elated over the nomination of his old friend and comrade, Hon. A. W. Smith, for Governor. During a part of the war they were in Andersonville prison together, Smith being Sergeant of the mess that Moon was in. Mr. Moon was in Andersonville six months.

Having dissolved partnership I will now run on my own and a fraction per cent; no commission; giving option to pay. Also trade farms, city property, merchandise and live stock, write insurance, deeds, mortgages, etc. D. B. D. Smeltzer, Notary, office over Evans' drug store.

The attention of all my patrons, and of the public generally is called to the fact that I have now located first door west of the Post-Office. My stock of watches, clocks and jewelry is complete, and my facilities for doing all sorts of repairing and first class. G. Goff.

Dr. J. W. Scott was at home over Sunday. He said that the Swift packing house killed 1,100 cattle every day last week, besides several hundred head of hogs and sheep daily. It is a wonder where they all came from. And it is a greater wonder where they all go.

Union. Our Ladies' band returned from Wichita Thursday evening where they had been furnishing music for the Wheelmen's tournament. They completely captured the citizens of the Peerless city and the visitors. The following from the Wichita Eagle in its write-up of the Fourth of July parade speaks for itself: The third division was headed by the Ladies' Military Band, of Humboldt, Kansas. This organization was made up of ladies, pretty as peaches and very handsomely dressed in uniforms of blue and gold. They played some beautiful music and were given cheer after cheer as they progressed with the procession.

One of the Walters was holding forth on the street the other evening and had made all the adjacent air blue with dismal tales of the hard times, when a little man who has carried a hot all summer spoke up and said, "Well, times may be hard and we may be robbed by the tariff and all that; but I never knew a time before when a man could support his family and get a fair suit of clothes with one week's wages." And everybody smiled and looked happier, except the Waller.

Nichols; Superintendent of Public Instruction, Miss Ida Hagdon; Associate Justice Supreme Court, C. P. Stevens; Congressman-at-large, Rev. J. M. Monroe.

Strenuous Progress. As a fisher, we think H. H. Johnson takes the cake, as we had the pleasure last Monday for the second time this summer of tasting some salmon which Mr. Johnson assured us he caught from his share of Big Creek. Wouldn't it surprise people if a valuable salmon fishery should be developed in that neck of the woods yet?

Pl. Scott Monitor. To plow corn until it is in tassel insures a fair crop in the driest weather. Plow in the mornings and evenings. A single shovel plow with short single tree is what is needed. If this advice is followed it will add $300.00 to the income from the crop of the readers of the weekly Monitor. This advice, however, is free. Try it.

The question of having the next markets closed on Sunday has been talked about a good deal this week. The proprietors would be very willing so far as they are concerned, but the objection comes from customers who have no way of keeping meat during the hot weather. The probability is, however, that the shops will be closed.

We publish in this issue, and hope to be able to give each remaining week of the crop season, the official weather and crop report from the bureau established at Topeka by the Department of Agriculture. The report will be interesting, we are sure, to all our readers.

PRONOUNCED HOPELESS, YET SAVED. From a letter written by Mrs. Ada Huff, of Groton, S. D., we quote: "Was taken with a bad cold, which settled on my lungs, cough set in and finally terminated in consumption. Four doctors gave me up saying that I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Saviour determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, coughs and colds. I gave it a trial, took in all, eight bottles; it has cured me, and, thank God, I am now a well and hearty woman." Trial bottles free at Evans' drugstore. Regular size 50c and $1.00.

Go to Beck for mowers. Sell hay to Beck.

FUSION AND CONFUSION.

What Our Democrats Think About It.
THE REGISTER's reportorial pump has been called into requisition this week in an effort to extract from a few of our local formerly-Democratic statesmen their real opinions of the action of the Topeka Convention last week, in greasing their party with the oil of expediency and assisting it to crawl down the throat and into the capacious stomach of the People's party. Several of those who were interviewed declined to talk for publication, but "as an evidence of good faith" they expressed themselves privately with a great deal of disgusted emphasis. Others spoke as follows:

A. L. Taylor: The tariff is strictly a business question as to the best method of raising money by taxes for the support of our government. I am opposed to the present unjust tax known as the McKinley tariff bill. Gen. Garfield said, "I am for protection that leads to ultimate free trade." Senator Plumb said, "It is about time to give the West a chance." I agree with Senator Plumb but not with Gen. Garfield. I am not a freetrader. I shall vote the ticket proposed by the Democratic party of Kansas at their convention in Topeka July 7, 1892.

A. J. Clark: I am certainly very much opposed to fusion and I think that a majority of the Democrats of Kansas are opposed to it. I disapprove utterly of the action of the State Convention and do not think that it lays any party obligation upon any Democrat to vote the People's ticket. If an Independent Democratic ticket is put in the field I shall support it. If not, the chances are that I shall "winter" my vote.

T. M. Bartels: The Democrats had to do one of two things, either endorse the Republicans or the People's party, and I think the Convention chose the lesser of the two evils. The way I see it up is that the Republicans endorsed the People's platform and the Democrats endorsed their ticket. So I don't think there is any kick coming from either side.

J. B. Goshorn: It was good politics as to the electoral ticket. My record in the convention shows that I opposed the endorsement of the People's State ticket. A vote for the electoral ticket is, of course, a vote for Cleveland. The election of Weaver is, of course, out of the question. I never would contribute, directly or indirectly, to such a catastrophe.

Sunset Riggs: I think they should have put out a straight ticket. Fusion always weakens party organization. I shall, of course, support the electoral ticket, but I shall study awhile before I swallow the State ticket. But I am not taking much interest in politics this year.

J. E. Ireland: I am at sea. I don't approve of the action of the convention at all. I want to be one thing or another. I should have much preferred a straight Democratic ticket, to go up with it or down with it.

L. W. Bartels: The Democratic party in Kansas has been demoralized for four years. It is now disorganized and abandoned. I am a thoroughbred American. That is all the politics I have.

S. H. Patterson: I am a straight Democrat, and am therefore opposed to fusion. I think a party is just as much bound to stand by its principles as a man is to stand by his.

Frank Leffler: I believe every tub should stand on its own bottom. I don't like fusion. I believe in straight politics—straight from the shoulder.

Weekly Weather-Crop Bulletin of the Kansas Weather Service, issued in co-operation with the Kansas State Board of Agriculture, for the week ending July 11, 1892.

PRECIPITATION. The rainfall over the State as a whole is quite deficient this week. Through the central counties, composing the great harvest field this week, there has been absolutely no rain except in one or two localities; in the western and southwestern counties, where the need of rain has begun to be felt, fair rains have fallen; in the extreme eastern counties, especially the central eastern, where rain was much needed, much rain has fallen.

TEMPERATURE AND SUNSHINE. The temperature has ranged decidedly below the normal, there being a deficiency of from 7 to 10 degrees daily. An average amount of sunshine has prevailed except in the extreme southeastern and western counties where it has been deficient, and in the belt of counties from Gray and Mead, northeastward to Washington, Marshall and Nemaha, in which belt an excess has prevailed.

RESULTS. Better harvest weather could not have been produced if "manufactured to order." The absence of rain allowed the work to go on uninterrupted while the cool weather, in addition to rendering the work more agreeable, has ripened the grain much slower than under ordinary conditions, which has in a measure compensated for the shortage in harvest hands. Harvest is in progress in every county in the State, is nearly concluded in the southern counties, began this week in the northern. But little grain however is being threshed, farmers preferring to stack it on account of the present low prices. The oats harvest is in progress in the south and has commenced in the central counties. Corn has made a fine growth and is just beginning to tassel in the central counties. Rain is now needed for the grass, corn and gardens, and is badly needed for potatoes.

W. B. JENNINGS,
Observer Weather Bureau.
